Susie and Stanley dashed across the porch and into the house.

"Mother, Mother," Susie called.
"Mother, Mother," Stanley cried.
"May we have a picnic on the lawn?"

Mother looked at the twins and thought for a moment.

"We want to eat at our little table," Stanley pleaded.

"We want to eat under the tree," Susie explained.

"A picnic would be nice," Mother decided. "Will you help to make your picnic?"

"Yes, yes," the twins chorused, clapping their hands.

"First of all, go wash your hands," Mother told them.

"Susie will spread the peanut butter on the bread."

"And Stanley will spread on the stawberry jelly."

"Susie will put carrot sticks in a dish."

"And Stanley will put apples in a bowl."

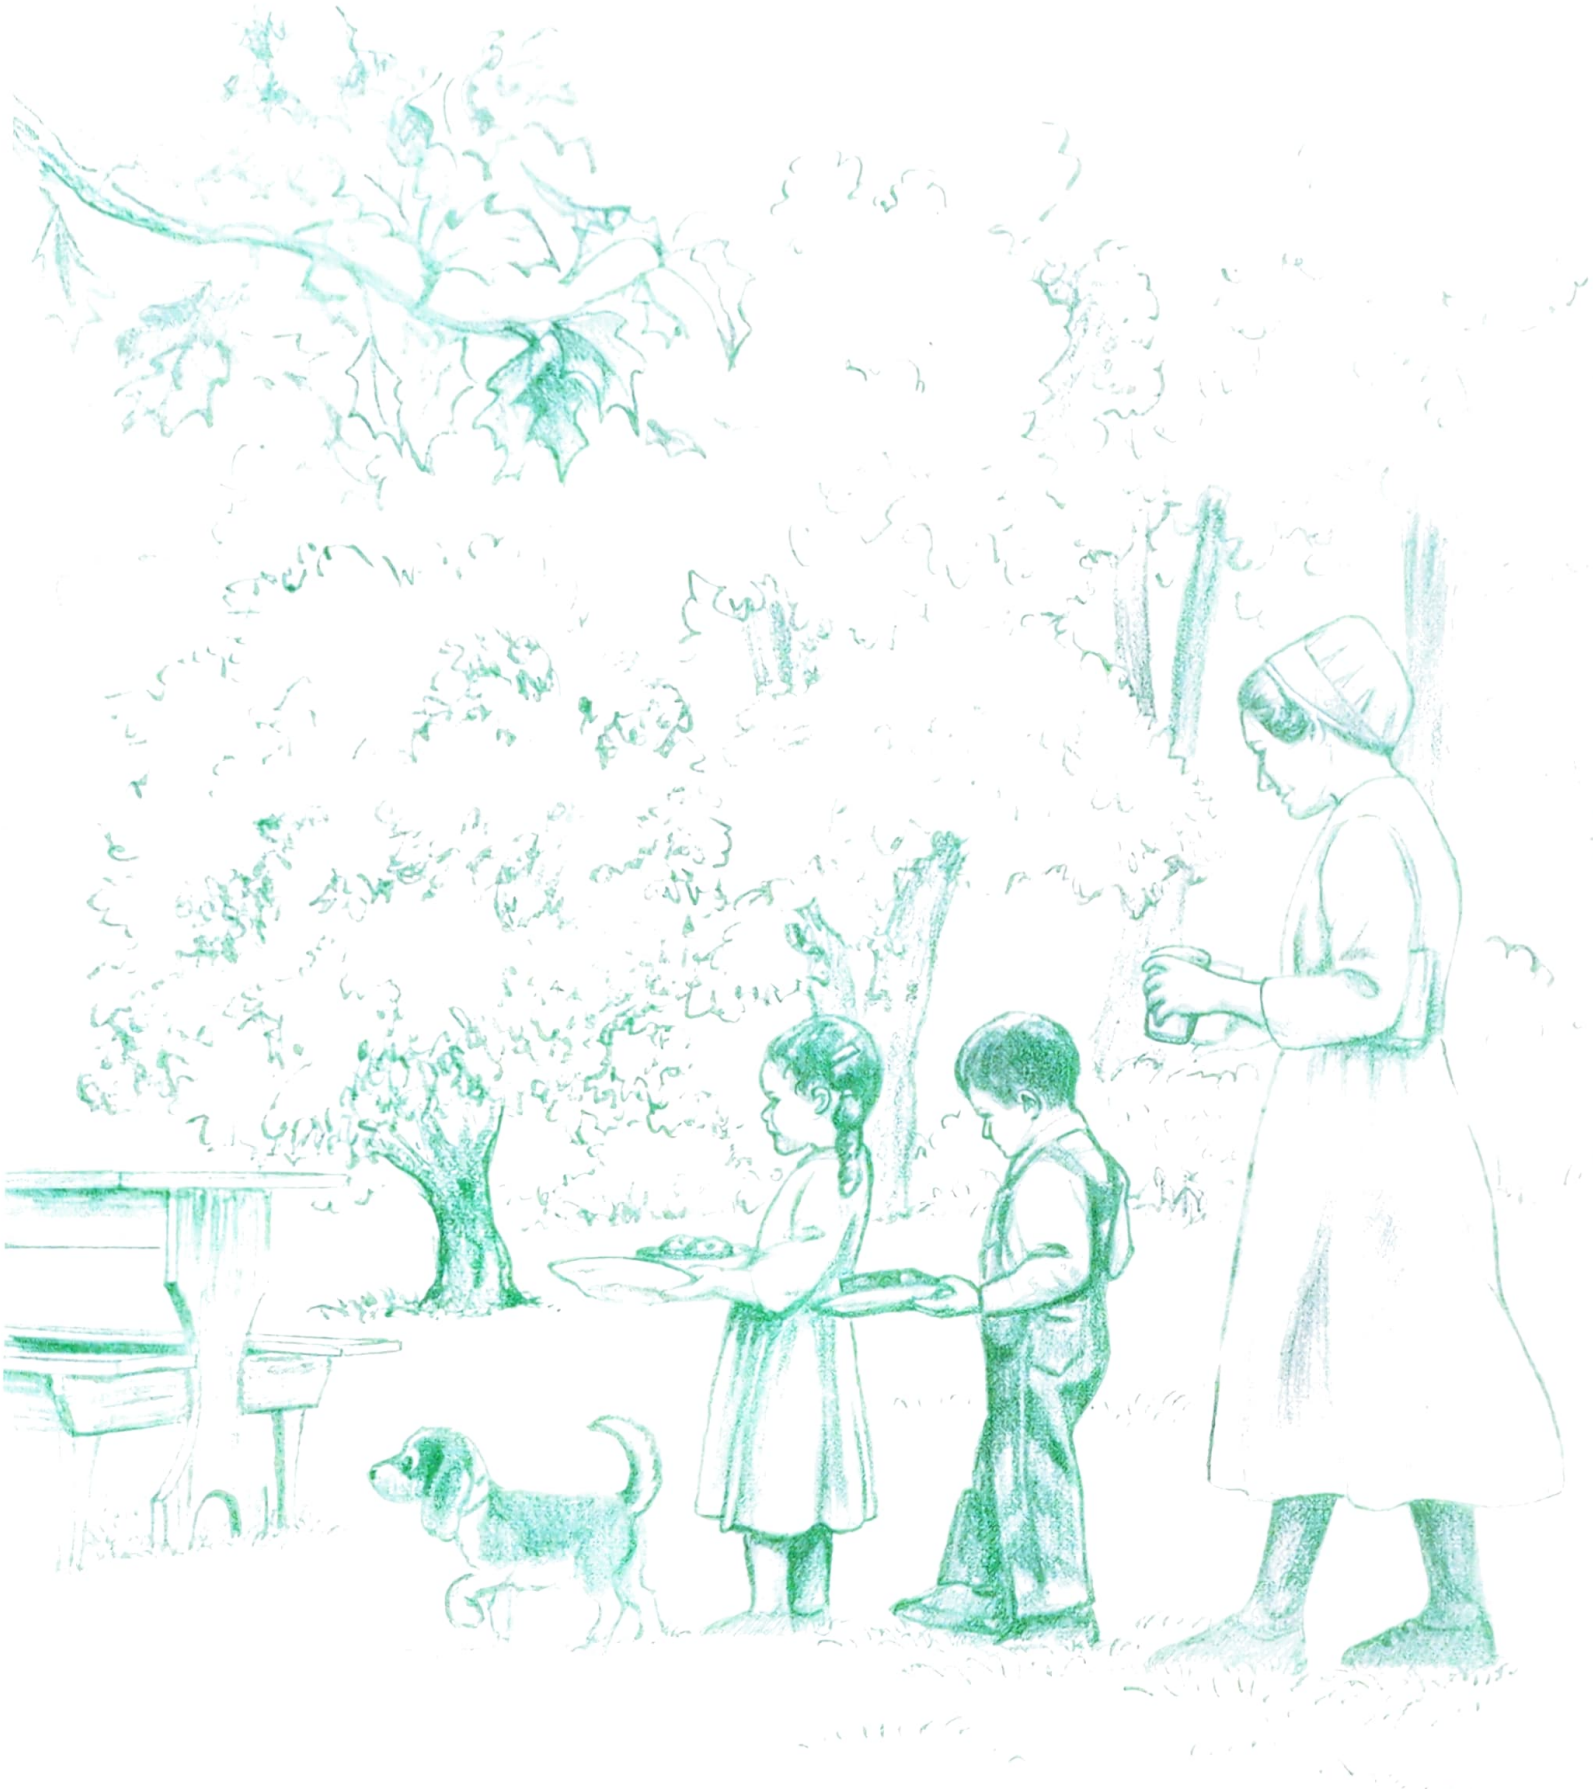
"Susie will get the cups."

"And Stanley will get the plates."

"Susie will get the napkins."

"And Stanley will get the cheese."

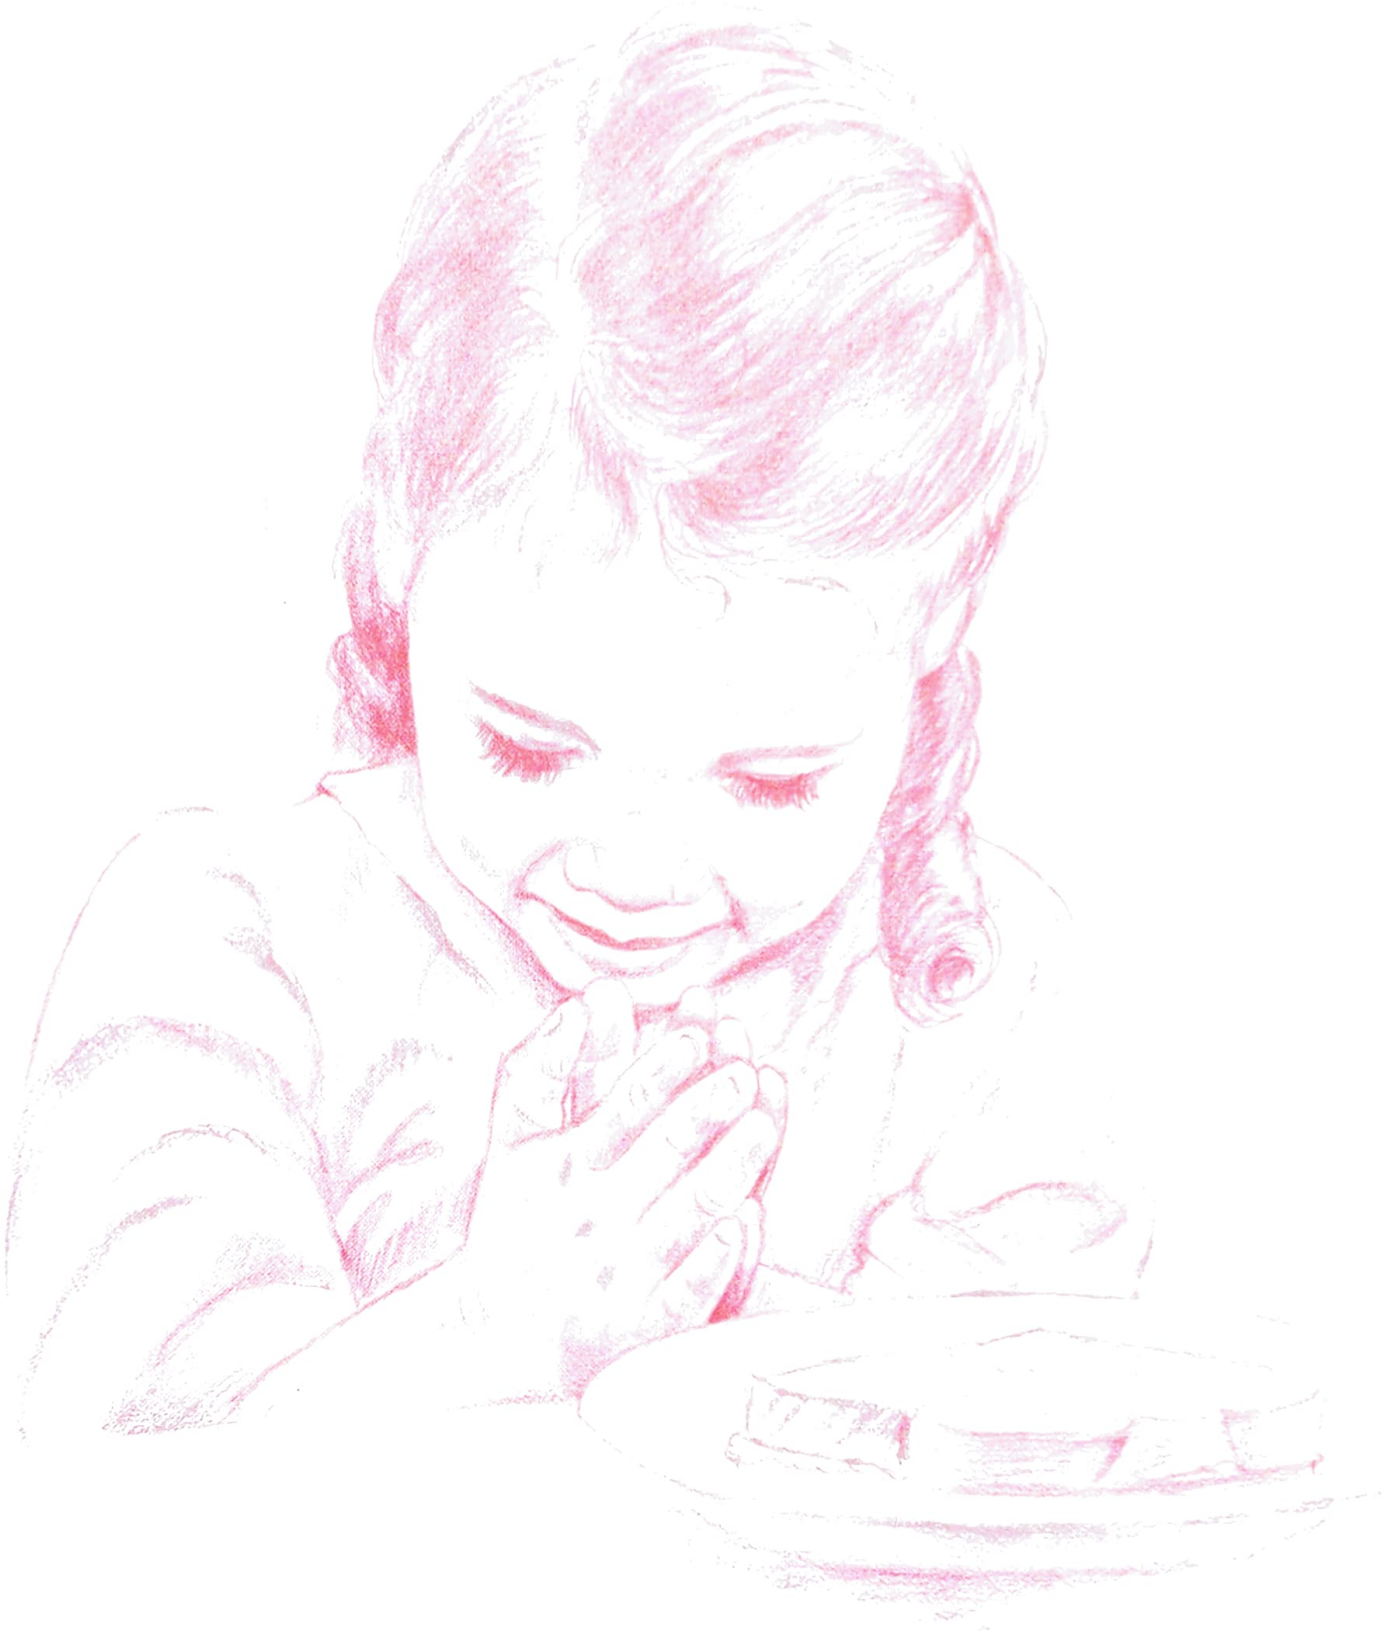
The twins carried their lunch to the table under the tree.



Mother carried their cups of milk.

Happily the twins sat down to eat.

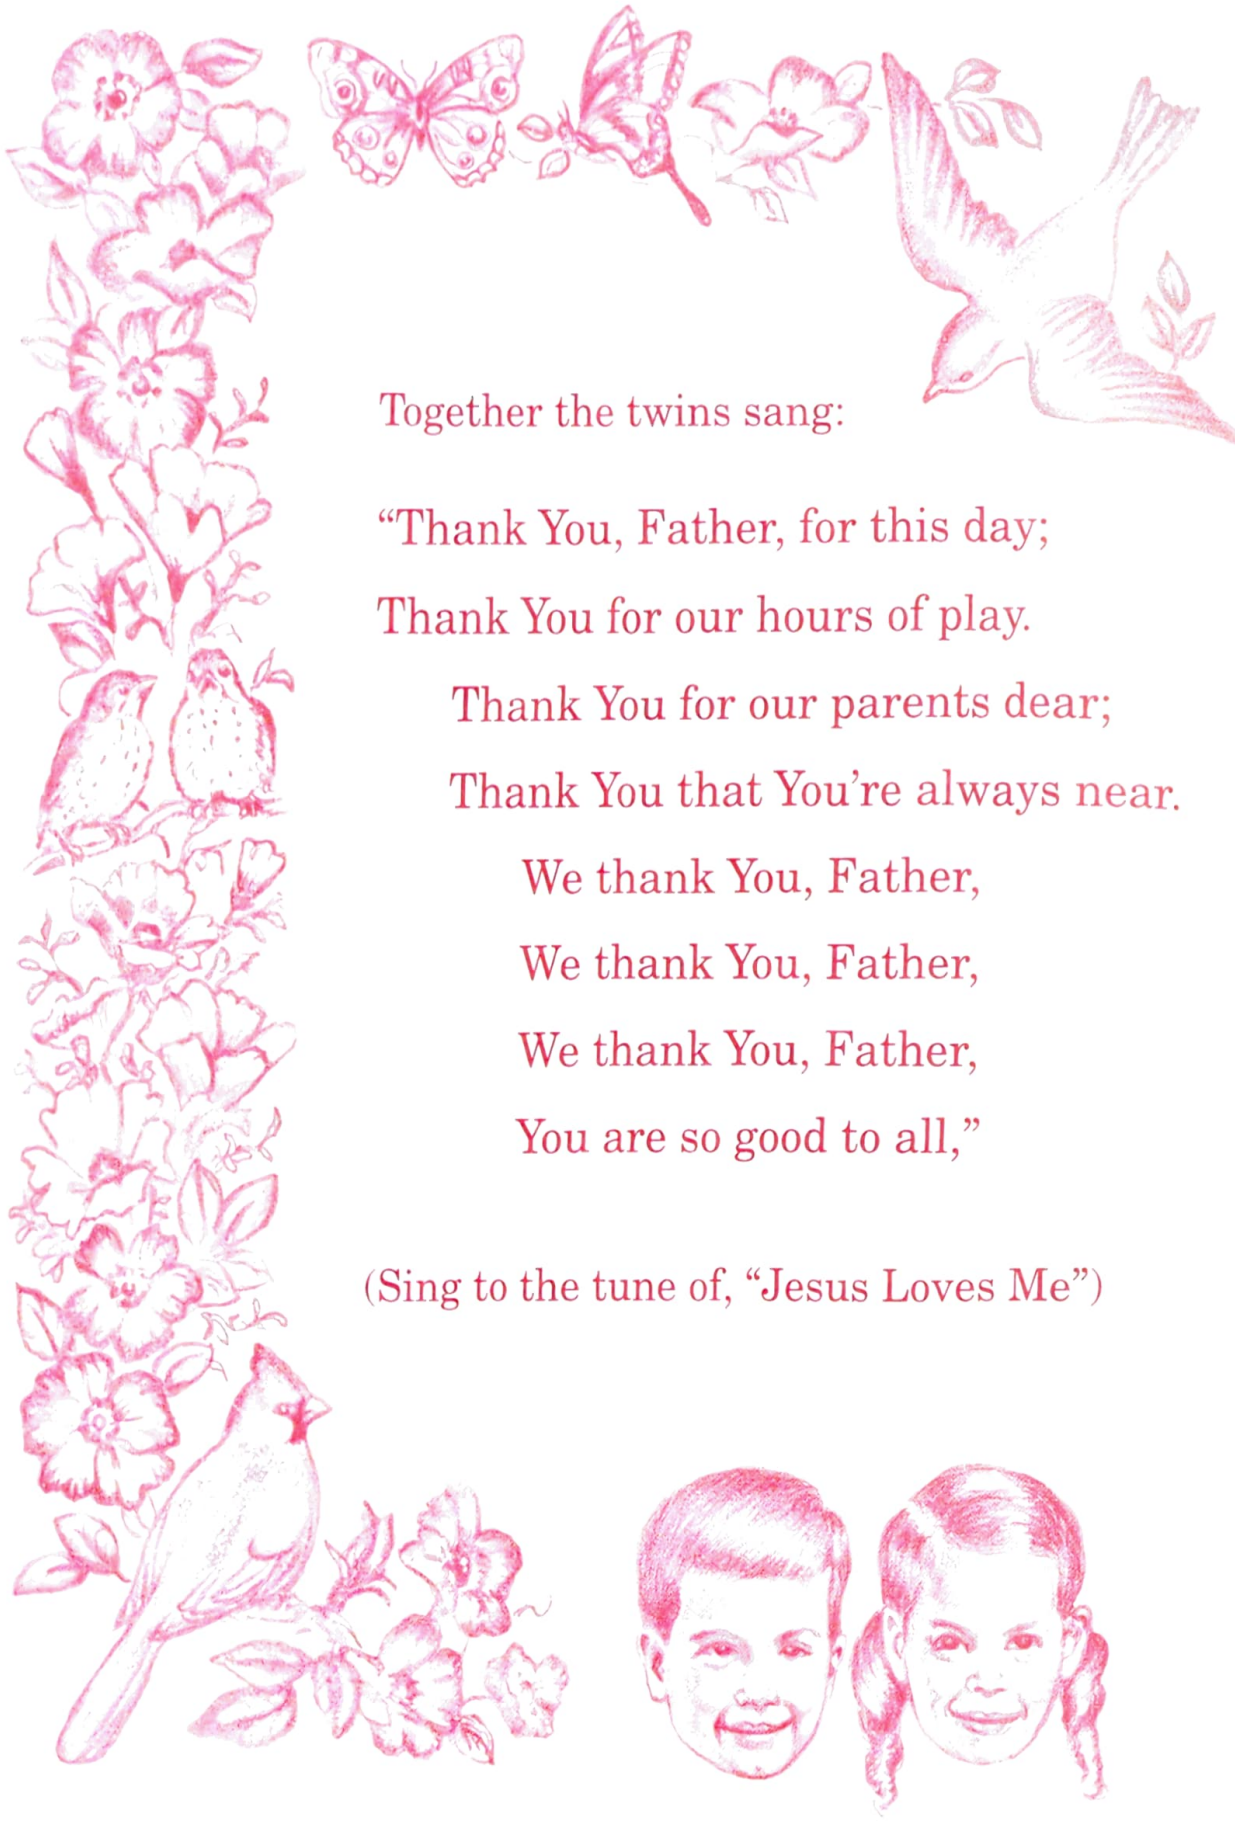
They folded their hands and bowed their heads.



Susie prayed, "Thank You, dear God, for our good food and our good Mother and Father. And thank You for this picnic."

Stanley prayed, "Thank You for our apples and cheese and carrots and milk and sandwiches and everything."

"Now we must sing our 'Thank You' song," Stanley said.



Together the twins sang:

"Thank You, Father, for this day;
Thank You for our hours of play.
Thank You for our parents dear;
Thank You that You're always near.
We thank You, Father,
We thank You, Father,
We thank You, Father,
You are so good to all,"

(Sing to the tune of, "Jesus Loves Me")
